FOREWORD

Through a maze of trials, tribulations, and copy we have come to bring you this 1951 Mesasa. In this eleventh annual yearbook, the staff has endeavored to review and present the many events and highlights of this past year at Ottawa Hills. Because these activities were so numerous it proved an almost impossible task to cover them all, and still meet the ever-present deadlines. We hope we have succeeded.

So to you, the students of Ottawa Hills High School, the senior class proudly presents the 1951 Mesasa. . . .

To Jimmy,
 a delightful girl in the senior class. Personally plus. Here's to greater new year
 Eves.

HIGH SCHOOL

DEDICATION

It is customary to dedicate a representation of our composite ideas to the individual who has made these ideas stand as a whole in the minds of each of us.

To you, Mr. Allion, we humbly offer this dedication. In the classroom you hold our interest; out of the classroom, you hold our admiration. During all of the many times that you have listened patiently to us complain, or brashly state our convictions, you gave your attention to us as worthy individuals, not just as students.

Most of us seniors have been in either your chemistry or physics class. Some of us do not know you very well, but you have conveyed to us all a little glimmer of a good philosophy; namely, it pays off, in the long run, to try to live genially with everyone.

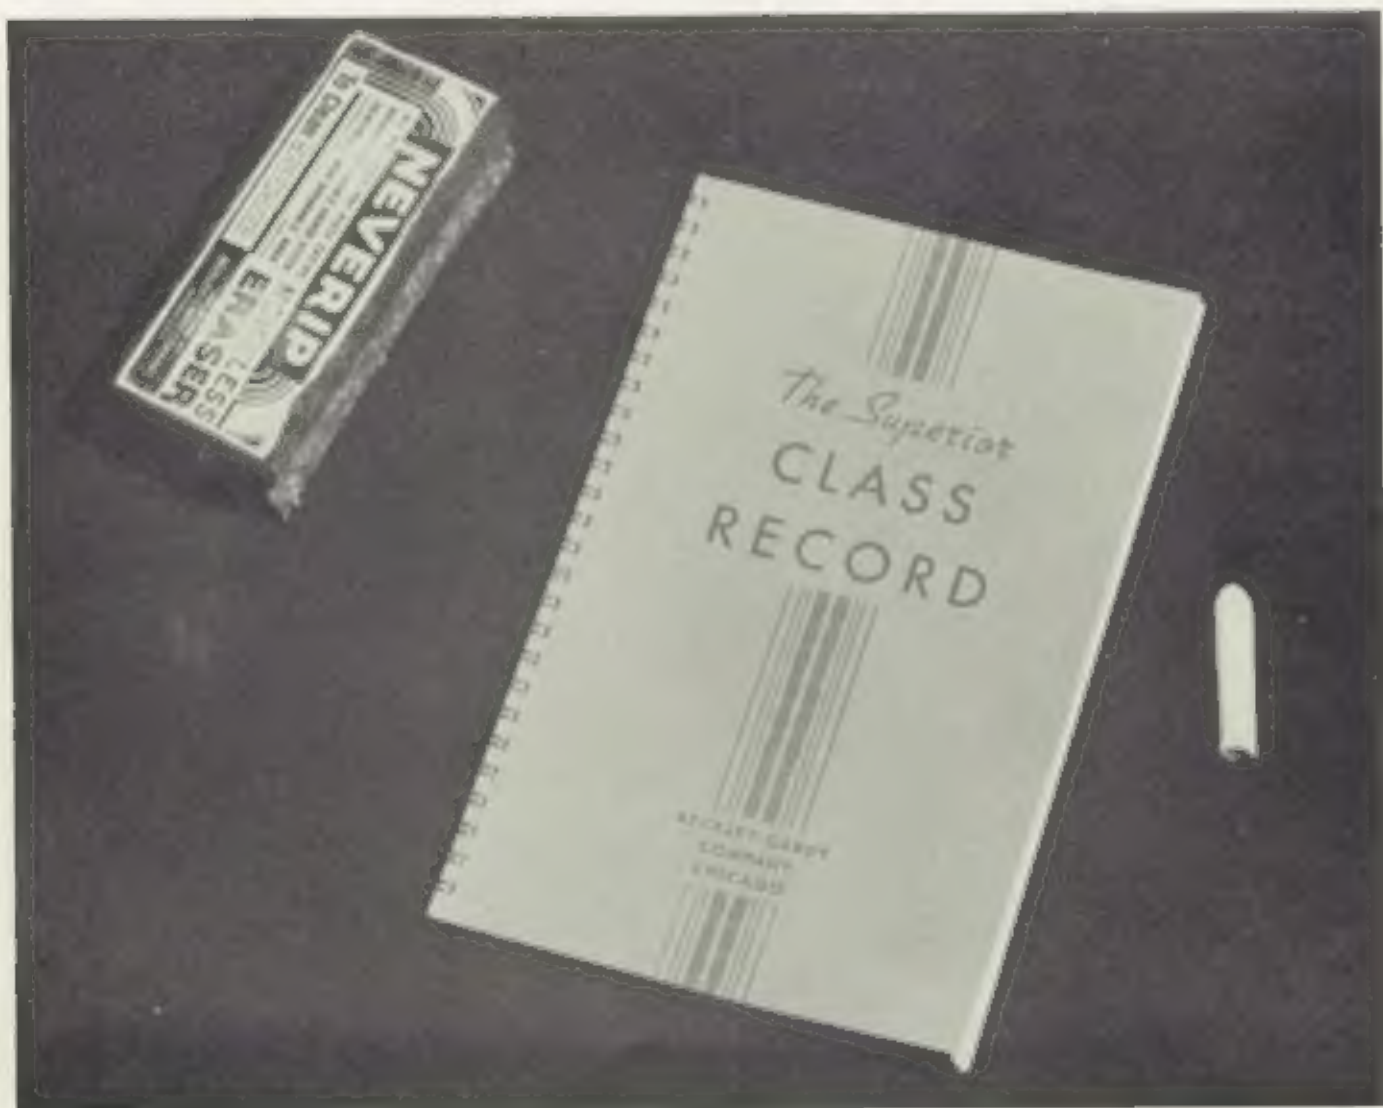

Thanks, Mr. Allion, for exposing us to your pleasant day-to-day manner which has helped in every instance to make our high school life more agreeable.

Sincerely and gratefully,

THE CLASS OF 1951

CLASS OF 1951

"Never so busy in all our life" seemed to be the by-word of the seniors this year. From September to June the group was engaged in all kinds of activities. As a whole (1951) the class sponsored a rummage sale and, of course, the class play, Dear Ruth. In this play the leading parts were taken by Joan Abbott and Larry Bandfield. Other characters were played by Harvard Olson, Polly Longenecker, Marv Dennany, Tom Welly, Jack Stichter, Anne Widrig, and John Walbridge.

Mighty Cynthia was the president and Judy her vice-president. Joan took the notes while Marge kept the finances in order. As sergeant-at arms, Harvard kept his eye on all "subversive" activities. Somehow or other the officers kept things rolling so that by the end of the year neither they nor their advisors (Mr. Barber and Mr. Sattler) were completely exhausted.

THE HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF '51

Get your seats folks the show is about to begin. There go the lights and the fun has begun. The title is "The Life and Death of the Most Outstanding Class Ottawa Has Ever Had" or "Thank Good They're Gone." You have to pick the title that you feel is most appropriate. Well the fun has begun and there are seven of our most distinguished seniors lying on their backs in the kindergarten and taking their usual naps. Everything is in perfect order except for the fact that Len Black is having a fine time tickling Little Prudie P. gett who giggles away and then puts him over the head with the end of her arm. Oh there's the horse made out of blocks and the doll house and remember the sandbox. Strange that Mike Barnard preferred a little sand from the sandbox with his milk and crackers but of course "to each his own."

The scene is changing however and with much fretting and fear of Miss Bramble's famous technique of hair pulling we advance to the preponderant subjects of learning to read and write and get along without being bothered. There was really no need for being scared of Miss Bramble though. The only time we received any streak of ferocity was the time she washed out Johnny Bertsch's mouth with soap.

We're really on our way now and here we are in the second grade. It was during this year that we first began to display our dramatic talents in the operetta "Jack and the Beanstalk." Being a precocious group we were already revealing our talents in other lines and so in the next picture you see us perched all over the bicycle wheel singing a rousing chorus of a lovely song. There's Terry Clark leading the group and what is it we are so lavishly chanting "Marge loves Larry Marge loves Larry." Those two bright red spots are the faces of Marge Jamieson and Larry Bershon.

As the projector rumbles on we see ourselves in third grade. My aren't we growing up! Such sophistication! At least we would be if Cyarus would stop beating the boys at soccer and Barbara Hirsch would refrain from mutuating the boys in those tree fort a's. There's one of the tree fort a's now. 'Whooosh!' That was Barbara B. about streaking along and here comes Tommy L. lumbering along after her with a tender glint in his eye and a solemn "burndt."

Well, here comes the fourth grade and our mentality is improving by leaps and bounds. Why we've even progressed to long division. My, what talent. That little round ball flying through the air is Bill Bolwick. He's leaping out of his box for he had the lead in another operetta that year and was then known as Jack of the Box. We were always a mixed class particularly in the third and fourth grades. The only trouble was that the units never could get together. What fine nearby battles we had between Pradley's team and Deans' team! Does anyone remember if any faction ever did win?

Well, anyw— we made it to the fifth grade. Oh yes, there's Margie tripping the light fantastic as the fairy in the Three Wishes. Here comes the girls of the choras and fitting among the trees as butterflies. Good heavens! Cynthia is climbing one of the trees and the whole set is about to fall.

The scene changes (think heavens) and there we are in the sixth grade. We had now become the seniors of grade school and we were just as proud and pompous as befitting our elevated position. We no longer played rabbits on the swings or monkeys on the monkey bars and the girls were learning to attract attention from the boys in other ways besides swinging upside down on the playground. We were not fortunate in losing our teacher that year but another one was quickly provided. There she is. Remember her? What was her name? Ah yes, it's our old friend Mrs. Meeks. Need I say more?

We graduated and there we are, now seventh graders. Mr. Scott was our shepherd who specifically provided us with want. But it was a grand year. We discovered a new talent this year that we spent much time developing. That was the skill of peering Spin the Bottle. However, the camera skips quickly over this and we see a scene from Tom Sawyer. There's Anne trying hard to act as though she likes Gery Shatter who is Tom Sawyer. It's a difficult role but Anne seems to be doing rather well, judging by the color of Gery's face. As we leave the seventh grade we catch a scene from our class picnic at Walbridge park (the reason Lachore's face is green is that she's been riding on the Loop-the-Loop).

Now we're in the eighth grade. Boy, what a year that was. We spent the year studying like dogs, particularly on Friday and Saturday nights. There are Ed and Walter Boden going over their poetry on Saturday night. I guess they needed a little coaching, though, because there are Anne and Joan listening to them recite their lessons.

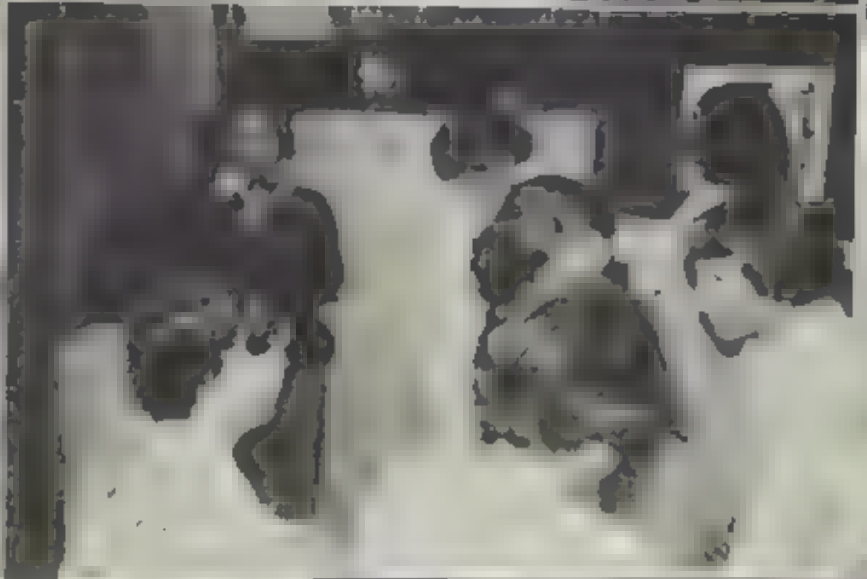

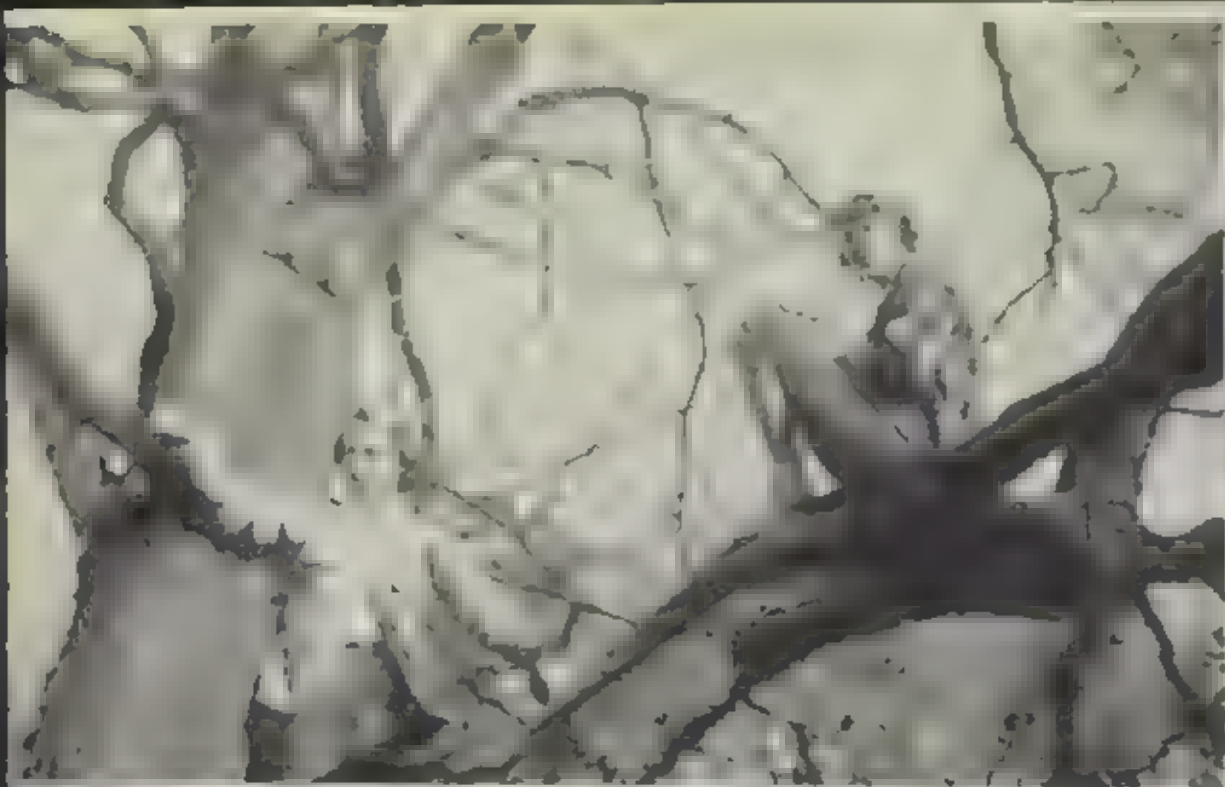

The projector rattles on and we at last see ourselves entering the high school. That little girl, trying to hide behind the pillar is what is commonly known as Mary Dennary. She was shy then. Would you believe it? Our freshman year was a great year for most of us. There we are attending the football and basketball games in mass and although there were fewer class parties we have a few scenes from those rip roaring hen parties that the boys enjoyed so much. Mr. Bolbach also gave us a few nice parties on Friday afternoons. He entertained us with looks that for some reason seemed to melt right through our new jewelry.

After the ninth grade comes the tenth grade and there we are. Say, who's that teacher? I'm sure we've seen her somewhere before. Oh my heavens, it's that sixth grade substitute! She's gently reminding J. J. Wexly to sign up for the public speaking class by suggesting that he might just unfortunately fail Core 1 if he doesn't sign up. It was in the tenth grade I believe that the boys and girls finally got together at the New Year's Eve party. Perhaps it was by force but they got together, didn't they, Ron?

The next year we actually become upper classmen. It was this year that Judy Sarsky, Judy Kent and Lince Kase came bursting in among us and there's a picture of Ron soon afterwards looking like spring itself. Of course the biggest event of the year was the prom. With the help of Mr. Bolbach and Mrs. Meeks we put on a dance that really wowed them. There we are on the afternoon before the big night. Gossy, what a jangle of crepe paper and balloons. Mike Bernard came some to help us out and there he is running around quite busily popping the balloons with a nice long pin. He always was an active little fellow.

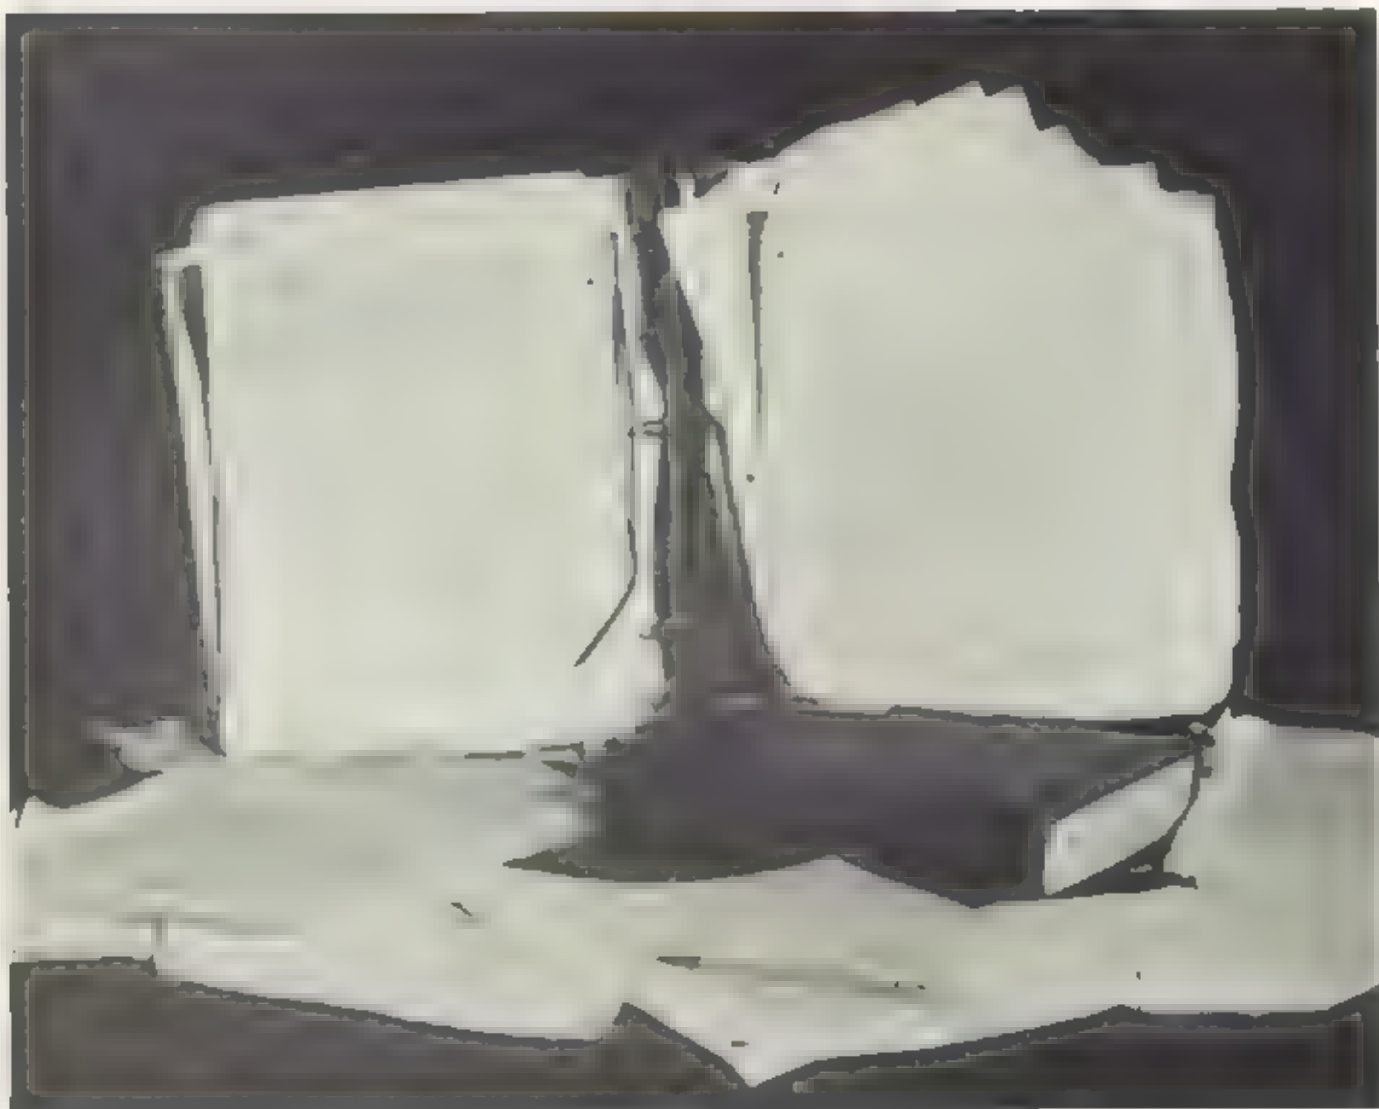

And so after twelve or thirteen or fourteen or (ahem) years of schooling we have at last become seniors. The events of this year have been numerous. There is Joan Dodge hanging by his knees from a lamp post trying to get a (interesting) snap shot for the Messes and there is a scene from the Tuesday party at Lee's. Say, is Cyacis throwing John Walbridge around or is Joan Walbridge throwing Cyacis? It's hard to tell because some of the spray water from the water fight got on the lens of the camera. There's a scene taken at one of the basketball games and the boys are really doing a swell job. That bedraggled mess is a shot of the physics class returning from Chicago and of course we'd never forget the play. My, that love scene must have taken a lot of practice. How about it, Joan?

Soon now we will be graduating and we can only give you a preview of that. In this picture you see our feelings as they will be revealed in our faces as we leave Ottawa Hills. You can detect a sentimental sadness there, particularly in the faces of the girls if you can see through the tears. There is also a note of gratitude and great happiness as we look back on our years at Ottawa Hills. And so the projector stops and another class becomes a part of the past.

JUNIOR CLASS

Again this year the talents of the "Class of 1952" were well distributed among various school activities. As juniors, our main project was the planning and sponsoring of the junior-senior prom which was the outstanding social event of the year. The prom, held at the Toledo Country Club, was a result of energetic and ambitious attributes possessed by this year's junior class.

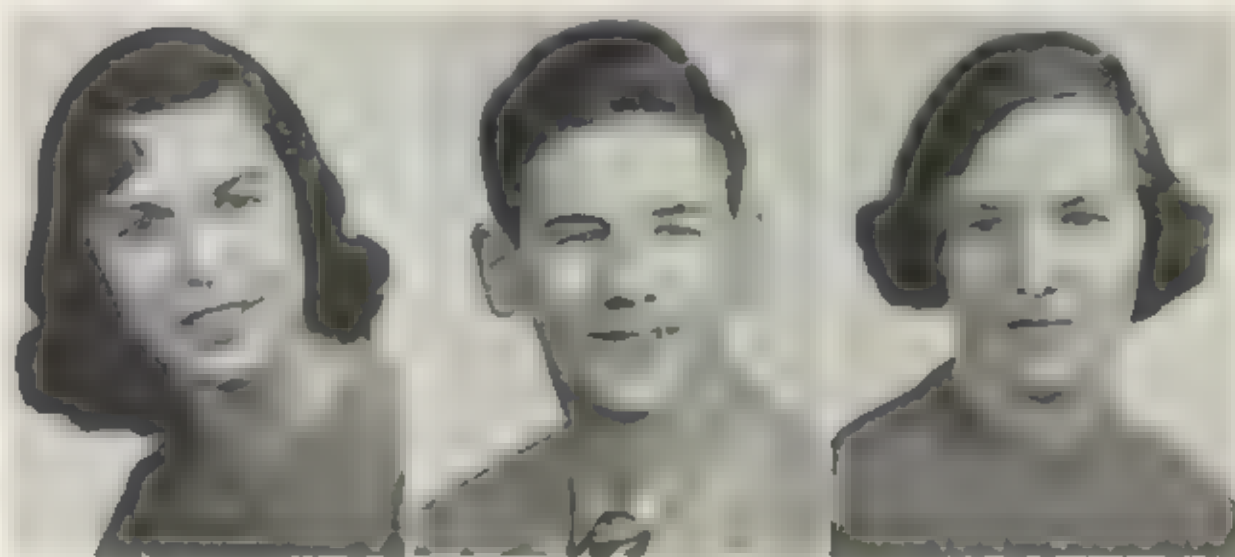

Don Heydt, its president, wielded the gavel which led the junior class through an eventful and successful year. David Mebane, vice-president, and Ginny Beck, secretary of the class, also were instrumental in the class's success.

Corky Meckler competently filled the treasury post which presented quite a problem since the juniors at times were inclined to be miserly. Corky did a fine job of formulating the class's financial policies to obtain the necessary funds for the prom. Joe Duffey, sergeant-at-arms, attempted to lessen the amount of chaos associated with class meetings.

Don Colenback and Ron Means represented the class on the Student Council, while Rocky Furst was representative to the athletic board.

In athletics the juniors had a magnificent representation. A total of fourteen junior boys were members of the football squad. Three juniors started on the first five of the basketball team. Several junior athletes formed the core of the varsity baseball team.

The members of the class completed a year in which they laid a firm foundation to take their place next year as leaders of the school.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

Under presidents Tom Klein, Diane Byron, and Rip Ewell, and with the aid of their council members Mr. Bogan and Mr. Parsons, the class of 1953 has set down another outstanding year to its credit. The following important class officers were Denny Dennis and Frank Melhorn, vice presidents, Sue Vosper and Ginny Fuller, secretaries, Ann Paxton and Andy Yamin, treasurers, and Jon Deimel and Bernie Terman, sergeants-at-arms. Johnnie Colenback, Bob Rogers, and Frank Melhorn provided the class of 1953 with a strong voice in student council.

The sophomores began early this year to make a name for themselves in school affairs by sponsoring a dance, the Rucker Rumble, which was held in the Elementary School gym. It was very successful and all those who attended had a fine time.

The class of 1953 donated money to various organizations, the gift being the blocking machine equipment for the football team.

Having completed a good year and having made a fine name for themselves in Oran, Hills the sophomore class hopes to continue and uphold the traditions and standards of our school.

FRESHMAN CLASS

Just beginning in high school, the class of 1964 demonstrated true school spirit. Located in Miss Burns and Mr. Adams' homerooms, this very active class was led by presidents Johnny Williams and Larry Baunach. Herbert Henry and Joan Black, vice presidents, took over when Larry or Johnny was absent. The job of recording class affairs fell to Sandy Herman and Clara Mercer, secretaries. Financial problems were solved by the mathematical wizardry of the class treasurers, Ben Bowker and Adelaide Kieser. Whenever class meetings became rowdy, George Hertzfeld and John Tuschman took command and, as sergeants at arms, put down all disruptive outbreaks. Joe Kabat, Joan Tuschman, and Carolyn Mural represented the freshmen on student council. They did an excellent job of keeping the class viewpoint known.

The class of 1964 sponsored several events of note. February 5 was the date of the Freshman Open House dance. Music was furnished by popular records and a large crowd attended. A going away party was given for Pete Goshin, who left Ottawa Hills to attend another school. The losers of a tax stamp contest between home rooms had to plan a party for the winners. This party turned out to be a scavenger hunt and much fun was had by all who participated. A square dance party was also planned and held by the freshmen.

The freshman class is quite proud of its fine attendance at football and basketball games. This again shows true spirit and attitude attributes which are certain to make the class of 1964 one of the best ever at Ottawa Hills.

MUSIC

MUSIC

It was with regret that the news of the resignation of Mr. Carl Snyder was received. But the Music Department was given a new director who brought with him great talent and the ability to guide the department to new heights of achievement. We were very happy to have Mr. Richard Meier appointed as the new Director of Music.

The greatest achievement of the year in the Music Department was the Spring Concert. The choruses, band, orchestra, ensembles, quartets, and soloists showed off their talent to an appreciative audience of parents, villagers, and friends. The Boys' Chorus was very active outside of school, singing at several service club meetings.

The ensembles were also busy, performing for many occasions including a fifteen minute spot on WSPD TV at Christmas. On March 31, Mr. Meier made a grand passage into the district solo and Ensemble Contest. Out of nine entries, six came home with "I" ratings, the finest showing of any Music Department in the history of Ottawa Hills High School.

GIRL RESERVES

The Girl Reserves, composed of sophomore, junior, and senior girls, has been very active this year. They started the school year with a roast which helped to create a friendly feeling among the group. They give Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets to needy families which has been an old tradition of the club. An excellent candy sale was also sponsored by the group under the leadership of the following officers: President Margie Jamieson; Vice-president, Cynthia Brumback; Secretaries, Nancie Howe and Sally Ashley; Treasurer, Barbara Bebout; Chaplain, Barbara Black. A committee of girls planned a party for the children at the Miami Orphanage, which proved to be a great success, and they hope to continue parties such as these in the following years.

HI-Y

The primary duty of the Hi-Y is to encourage high standards of Christian living and promote school spirit. In order to determine a successful year in any organization you must first observe the quality of its guidance and second, the enthusiasm of its membership.

The Hi-Y has had a successful year under the leadership of Bob Reese, President; Dick DeVore, Vice-president; Leon Feuer, Chaplain; Pete Lott, Treasurer; Larry Bandheld, Secretary; and Ron Turner, Sergeant-at-arms.

This year the Hi-Y held their traditional bonfire supported by an enthusiastic student body. Among the activities of the club was the innovation of a new idea: Mr. p a movie with a dance following.

ART CLUB

A vital new organization has grown up in our school in the last two years, one which promises to take its place as an indispensable part of school life. Although we did not realize it, there has been for many years a need for such an organization which could take the responsibility of building sets for plays and making posters advertising school activities. The Art Club has filled this need. One of the best projects of this club was its preparation of a number of interesting display case presentations.

Not satisfied with just these responsibilities, however great they may be, the Art Club this year took on the further task of designing and making Christmas cards by hand. When this was announced, a deluge of orders was received. Although overwhelmed with this response, the members of the club managed to fill all orders.

LIBRARY STAFF

Mrs. Meeks, our school librarian, had an unusually fine array of student archivists gathered around her this year. The shelves have been more clean and orderly, librarians have been on duty more often, and wonder of wonders, the magazine rack held nothing but the latest periodicals. No more did one approach the magazine rack hoping to find a current issue of Time only to find a 1943 issue of Scholastic Coach.

The entire student body should be ever mindful of the time and effort it took to organize, catalogue, and purchase the many volumes that are at our disposal in the library. Appreciation also should be given to Mrs. Harker A. Crow who made possible the purchasing of many books.

Finally, to Mrs. Meeks and the Library Staff go thanks for a job well done.

ARROWHEAD

"An Arrowhead out every week" was the slogan of the Journalism Department this year and, for the most part, this slogan was carried to completion.

With almost everyone in school carrying a busy schedule, many "cub" reporters were enlisted by the journalism class to help gather the many items of interest always about us. Their articles were supervised by the "page editors" who took journalism as a regular course. With this plan, the entire school had a part in making their paper a weekly publication full of interesting, colorful, and unusual articles.

Congratulations are in order to the staff for their acceptance into the "Quill and Scroll", an honorary journalistic society. For all their gripes, the students must admit that this year's Arrowhead Staff has done an excellent job.

MESASA STAFF

To produce a presentable Mesasa, patience and a great deal of diligence are needed. The 1951 Mesasa Staff has realized only now, at the termination of our deadlines, what a real job this is. In Ottawa Hills the work involved in the publication of the Mesasa is divided into two groups: that of the editorial staff which plans the make-up of the book, the pictures, the articles, etc., and the business staff which is responsible for the sale of the book, the advertising campaign, and everything that deals with the financial part of the publication. The editorial staff was supervised by Mr. Sattler, while Mr. Fontaine sponsored the business staff. Members of the staff and their positions are shown in the accompanying picture.

SPORTS

SPORTS AT OTTAWA HILLS

A new trend in athletics developed at Ottawa Hills High School during this past year. Even though some of the varsity squads didn't win as many games as their predecessors, nevertheless the sports program at our school appeared to be gaining in every respect.

Much of the credit for this stronger interest in athletics is due to the work of the coaches. Mr. Parsons, head football coach, served also as coach of tennis and freshman basketball teams. Mr. Stewart, head basketball coach, also shouldered the responsibility for the golf team and supervised a well-rounded intramural program. Mr. Allion had charge of freshman football and the spring baseball team. These three men gave liberally of their time to further the interest in all kinds of sports.

This bubbling influence of the coaches and team members captivated the students, parents, and teachers also, and all supported the athletic program wholeheartedly. Students not only attended the athletic contests but also contributed financially for the support of a widening athletic program. Parents, too, became enthused and joined the Boosters' Club which actively showed its interest by making possible the purchase of athletic equipment, helping to improve the athletic development program, and providing necessary transportation. An athletic board, composed of students, teachers, coaches, administrators and parents, was organized and its support was more than beneficial.

All of these individuals and groups are working for one goal—to develop the finest possible athletic program for the benefit of the entire student body of the school.

Incidentally, as this Mesasa goes to press, the staff is glad to add that for the first time in the school history, an Ottawa Hills High School baseball team won the county championship. This was done by defeating Holland 8 to 3.

The 1959-60 edition of the Ottawa Hills football team gained the respect and admiration of other teams and coaches alike. This was accomplished by their fighting spirit and sportsmanship.

This year the Arrows engaged their traditional foes as well as two new opponents—Huron and Maumee Valley. The latter school especially can be counted on to furnish opposition for a heated rivalry in the future.

In his capacity as head football coach, Mr. Parsons did an excellent job and served notice to Arrow opponents that Ottawa Hills will be a football power to be reckoned with in the future.

JUNIOR HIGH FOOTBALL

The highlight of the season for the Green Dart football team was an impressive victory over the Anthony Wayne freshman squad. Although the Anthony Wayne game was the only victory posted by the team, they showed promise and improvement throughout the entire season. The team was coached by Mr. Allion and captained by Larry Baunach.

Any boy in the seventh, eighth, or ninth grade was eligible for the squad. The bulk of the team was made up of freshmen. The Darts were led all season long by the fine playing of George Hertzfeld, who earned a Varsity promotion by his impressive work. However, credit is due the entire team which will be counted upon to bolster next year's varsity squad.

Top Row — Mr. Stewart, Rocky Furst, Bill Mercer, Ed Furst, Pete Lott, Woody Roberts, Rick Cone

The 1950-51 edition of the Ottawa Hills Green Arrows maintained its predecessor's record by winning the county championship and tying for the Maumee Valley League championship. The team ended up with a record of 10 wins and 8 losses, but only three of these losses were to "B" schools. The Arrows played one of their finest games of the season in losing to Grand Rapids, the 1950-51 state champions, by a slim margin of three points.

The Arrows main scoring punch was provided by Don Heydt and Rocky Furst with Pete Lott and Ed Furst aiding them. Dave Shaffer and Joe Duffey alternated with the other starting position. Of these six, only Ed and Pete, the co-captains, will be lost to the team by graduation.

After the season ended Rocky Furst was named honorable mention on the First and Ten All-Ohio Teams and was also named to the first team of the All-Maumee Valley League. Don Heydt was named honorable mention on the United Press All-Ohio Team and was also named to the first team of the All-Maumee Valley League. Pete Lott and Ed Furst were both named honorable mention on the All-Maumee Valley League. With losses by graduation being slim, the chances for next year's varsity team are excellent.

RESERVE BASKETBALL

This year's light weight basketball team maintained a very fine record which included both the county and league championships. The squad finished with a 14-3 record against some very rough opponents. During the year, they lost to just three schools, Muncie, DeV. Miss. and Anthony Wayne while at the same time they trampled over Lyons, Bowling Green, Bedford, Alamo, Muncie Valley City, Grand Rapids, DeGra, Delphos, St. John's, Swanton, Sylvania, and Holland, three times. Tom Klein and Jim Hamway provided the principal scoring punch with Woodie Roberts, Bernie Johnson and Bill Mercer rounding out the starting five. Mr. Stewart guided the fortunes of the reserves as they compiled their excellent record. Their marked improvement towards the end of the year is a good sign for next year's varsity squad which will be aided by the addition of many players from this championship team.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

The 1950-51 edition of the Ottawa Hills freshman basketball team showed remarkable height and ability. The Green Darts established an enviable record against high class competition. They engaged several city schools as well as many of the teams in the surrounding area. Mr. Parsons tutored the squad which was featured by the appearance of four six foot lads. This is a good sign for the coming years and indicates that the varsity squads of the future will not lack height. By their fine play the boys showed that they can be called on at any time to give a creditable performance of which the whole school can be proud.

INTRAMURALS

This year at Ottawa Hills, a newly accelerated intramural program was put into action. Although teams were formed for participation in volleyball, softball, bowling, and even football, the highlight of the program was a well organized basketball league with a trophy presented to the winner. The teams played at noon and after school with exciting play featuring every contest. The race for the trophy was so close that it was not until the final game that the champion was decided.

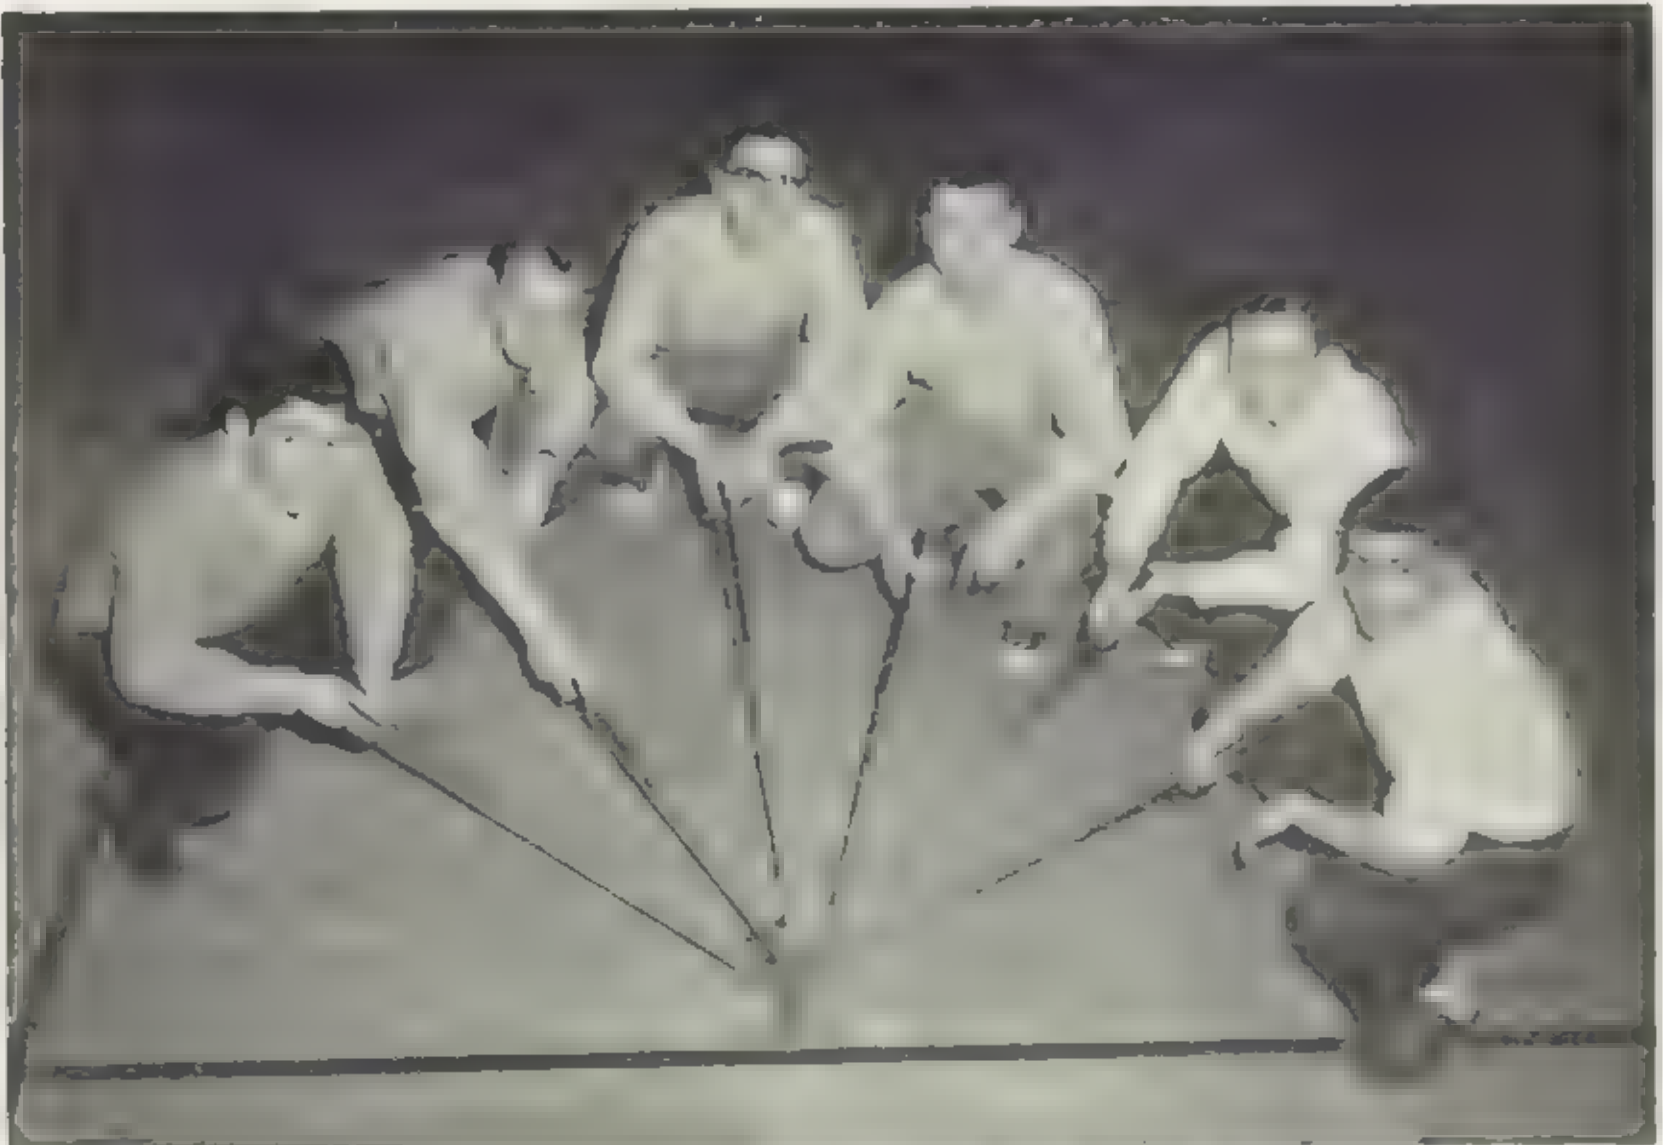

This year's Intramural League Championship team was the squad representing the senior class. The seniors captured the title by outlasting the other three class teams. All in all it was a fine idea and an interesting season for a program which provided athletic contests for most of the boys in the high school.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Although the Girls' Athletic Association has not been very active this year as a functioning club, it has carried out a well co-ordinated intramural sports program. The program began in the fall, with field hockey. Interclass competition was keen, and because Ottawa Hills' girls are hockey enthusiasts, it was hoped that they could beat Maumee Valley, the traditional rival. Unfortunately, both scheduled games were cancelled because of bad weather.

The winter months brought bowling, volleyball, and basketball into the gym classes and after school activities. Both the varsity and junior varsity teams were severely beaten by Maumee Valley, in games at M. V. In gym classes, fencing was introduced by Miss Ward and a little ping-pong and badminton were played.

As the weather grew warmer, baseball and tennis became the important sports. A tennis tournament was played, and a new enthusiasm was aroused.

Miss Ward, as sponsor, hopes to improve the working order of the club, and wishes to synchronize more closely next year the intramural program and the Girls' Athletic Association.

G. A. A. HEADS OF SPORTS

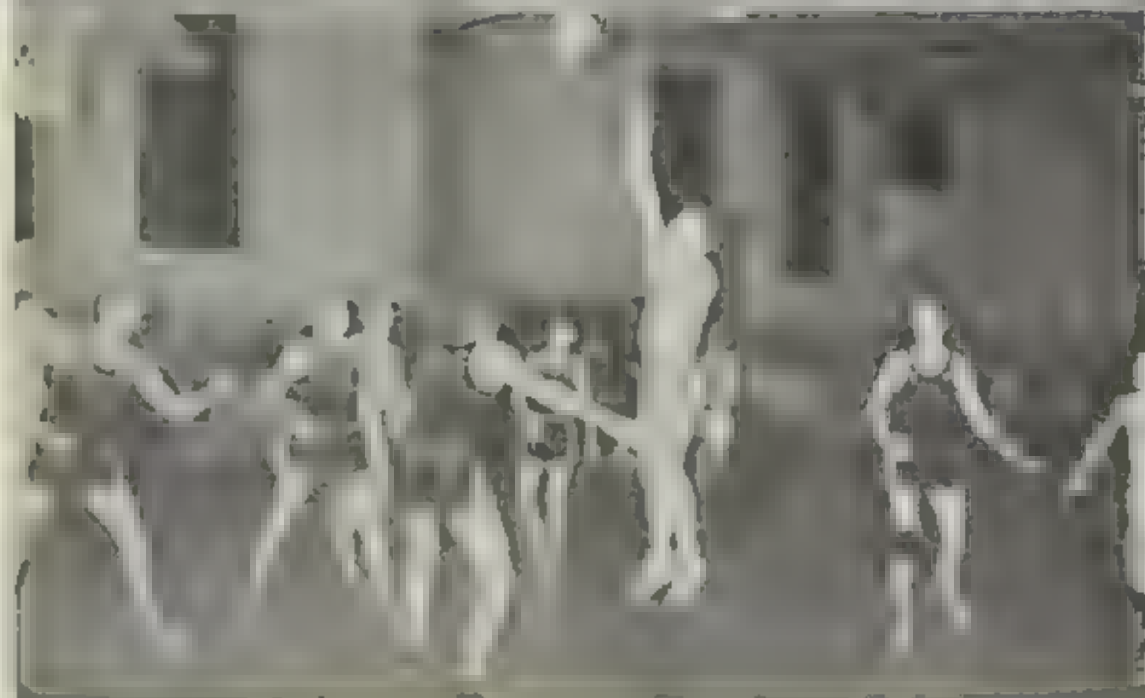

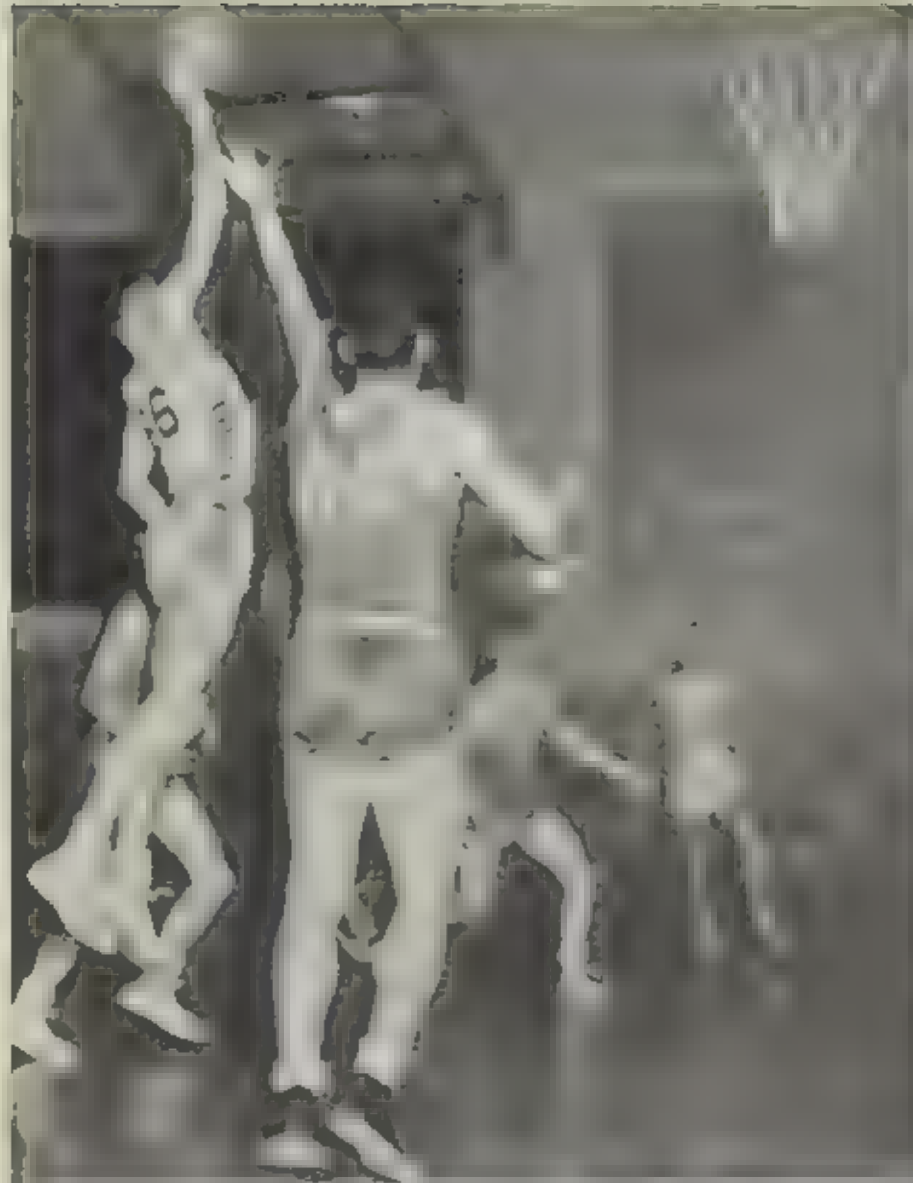

The Heads of Sports were chosen this year by the cabinet of the G. A. A. These girls helped organize teams and arrange games. They also take attendance when their sport is in season. These girls are head of the following sports because of their interest and participation in them: Judy Churchman, bowling; Sue Pope, riding; Ginny Beck, tennis; Sue Holtzman, basketball, Helen Harpst, golf; Sondra York, swimming; Sharon Beier, hockey; Janice Kase, softball; Margie Jamieson, volleyball

A Tradition of New Development

Backed by a tradition of new development, the name Owens-Illinois today stands for quality products.

The history of Owens-Illinois is highlighted by developments which have made material contributions to better living

The invention of the Owens bottle machine in 1904 by Michael J. Owens, one of the Company's founders, made it possible to mass produce low-cost glass containers.

Glass tumblers and other tableware are plentiful and inexpensive today because in 1906 Libbey Glass developed techniques for making them automatically.

Kaylo calcium silicate building and insulating products, first introduced by Owens-Illinois in 1943, make buildings warmer and more fireproof

Many people enjoy better television today because in 1949 Owens-Illinois developed the rectangular all glass bulb which makes possible better television pictures and smaller cabinets

These are but a few of the developments which are reflected in products that the Company produces. More could be mentioned and there will be many more in the future

A continuous program of research and development benefits the public as well as Owens-Illinois, a name that stands for quality products.

Here is rapid, low cost production on track links used on "Caterpillar" track-type Tractor. The BAKER 60-HO machine does the work faster . . .

cheaper . . . features twin pull cylinder construction for smooth even feeding of saddle. All units can be equipped with positive stop and delayed reverse and two rates of feed in one cycle. The machine is electrically controlled . . . all the operator has to do is load and unload the part and push a button. BAKER machines are highly flexible, can be adapted to a wide range of operations including single or multiple spindle drilling, boring, reaming, counterboring, hollow milling, and chamfering.
